

Energy nerve centre

The Dongtan Star, designed by SMC Alsop, will supply energy for the entire city and will be a world centre for low carbon research and training. Monitoring systems in the city's infrastructure will allow citizens to optimise their energy use, and enable analysts to refine delivery of the service.